2. The BFE agrees to provide the exhibitor with the appropriate number of tables, chairs and electricity at no additional charge.
3. The booth itself and all additional electrical wiring and outlets have to be brought by the exhibitor.
4. Sales and order taking are permitted provided all transactions are conducted in a matter consistent with the nature of the meeting. BFE reserves the right to restrict sales activities that are inappropriate or unprofessional.
5. Exhibitors are not allowed to move their booth, to distribute materials outside the booth or perform equipment demonstrations outside the booth without written permission from the BFE.
6. The booth will be assigned only to one company; joint exhibitions with other manufacturers are prohibited.
7. The exhibitor is responsible for insurance related to their participation in the exhibits.

10. Exhibitors will be notified by the BFE if their registration application using this form is accepted by the standing exhibition committee. Without written confirmation by the duly appointed representative of the BFE the exhibitor is not permitted to participate in the conference. Any action against such a decision will cause a five-year exclusion from any BFE event.
